Close to a year after the sale of Melbourne Victory to a Singaporean consortium, the dominoes are falling out of the new ownership structure. In a shock move, on Wednesday night Football Federation Australia announced Terry Barnes had resigned from the board of Football Federation Victoria, resigned from the board of the FFA and that the board of FFA Sport and Operations had accepted the resignation of CEO David Gallop. It had been expected that Barnes would be given the key football office role of Victorian State Association president and would stay on as one of four FFA board members. Rather, the former Socceroo and currently Cronulla assistant coach is set to step down from the FFA board. In a statement FFA confirmed David Gallop has accepted the resignation of all his fellow board members (Hugh Munro, Paul Trimboli and Nick Holland) but also
